

Army Bridges Chicago River in 55 Minutes

In a little less than an hour, U. S. army engineers from Camp McCoy, Wisconsin, built across the Chicago river at State street a pontoon bridge capable of carrying a load of 10 tons, and within another hour had dismantled it. The demonstration was made in celebration of the engineer corps' 168th anniversary.

Agreement Between Navy and Standard Oil is Held Illegal

Justice Department Submits Report to Byrnes for the President

Washington, June 17.—(AP)—The Navy's agreement with Standard Oil Company of California for developing the Elk Hills oil reserve was termed "illegal and invalid" today by a justice department official, who said it violates a 1938 petroleum conservation act.

This description came from Norman Littell, assistant attorney general, at a house public lands committee hearing in which Rep. Elliott (D-Calif.) said the deal had "something of the inkling of the Tea Pot Dome scandal of some years ago".

The contract provided for Navy purchase of company land and equipment in the rich California reserve field, and authority for the company to withdraw a specified amount of oil from the field's shallow area.

The act of 1938 to which Littell referred empowers the Secretary of Navy to provide for conservation of naval oil reserves and for the exchange of naval lands in the reserve with property owned by oil companies there.

Positions Vary

Although naval officials declared the contract was designed to protect and conserve naval petroleum lands in the reserve, the justice department position was to the contrary.

Elliott suggested to the committee that it go to Elk Hills, in California, to study the situation, "on the ground", and Chairman Peterson (D-Fla.), said he thought at least a subcommittee should go.

Littell told the committee he had made an exhaustive examination of the contract and submitted a report to James F. Byrnes, war mobilization director.

He said that his reports would be relayed by Byrnes to President Roosevelt, and the executive would make the decision as to whether the contract should be cancelled.

Delay Further Study

The committee thereupon postponed further study of the situation until next Tuesday, in order to allow the president time for study of the justice department's report.

The contract called for payment of $1,748,408 by the Navy to the Standard Oil Company in return for title and equipment on 8,297 acres of land the company owns on the Elk Hills reserve for the duration of the war, but for a period of not less than five years.

The contract provided for a daily production of 15,000 barrels of oil from the shallow oil zone by the company, but not to exceed 27,375,000 barrels over the five-year period unless specifically authorized by the Navy department.

At a previous session of the public lands committee, Rep. Voorhies (D-Calif.) declared the contract called for payment of 64 per cent of the cost of developing the reserve by the Navy in return for which the Navy would receive 64 per cent of the oil. However, contending the contract required the Navy to sell its share to the company and then repurchase, and that the entire deal looked dangerous, Voorhies requested the committee to initiate a thorough investigation.

THE WAR TODAY

By MAX HILL

(While DeWitt MacKenzie is on vacation, this daily column is being written by Max Hill, former chief of The Associated Press Bureau in Tokyo.)

Turkey has picked her winner in the war. There no longer can be any doubt that she has climbed down off the diplomatic fence and decided the United Nations are the best bet.

This probably does not surprise either the axis or the allies, but just the same it is a body blow to Hitler, and it exposes one of the soft spots in his vaunted fortress of Europe to attack—the Balkans.

Two years ago Turkey would not have dared treat the axis with such chilling scorn as Premier Su-ku Sarocglu did yesterday. He expressed warm friendship for America, Britain and Russia, and their aims in the war. His remarks concerning Germany were tepid and restrained, to say the least.

It has been evident for some time that we held the whip-hand in Turkey, and that Franz von Papen has failed utterly and completely in another mission for Hitler. But it was not an openly admitted fact. Now it is.

Turkey hasn't even voiced a technical protest over the closing of the Syrian border, a move which was said by British embassy sources in Ankara to be necessary to shield troop movements.

It is known that both Britain and America have great quantities of war materials and large armies in India, not too far away. Might this be the source of a good part of the offensive power the United Nations seem to be massing in the Near East?

This latest development in the global war is a definite threat to Hitler's vital oil supply in Rumania, much more important to him than the support of Italy, and the uncertainty in Berlin should have doubled with the

No Raise

Washington, June 17.—(AP)—For War Manpower Chief Paul McNutt—no raise. That was the edict of the house yesterday in sustaining objections by Rep. Taber (R-N.Y.) to an appropriations committee's recommendation that McNutt's salary be upped from $12,000 to $15,000 a year.

The committee said other war agency heads got the higher figure but Taber argued that a raise for McNutt would violate the War Labor Board's wage freeze.

Some Southern Democrats may balk on raising funds for Presidential Drive

Atlanta, June 17.—(AP)—The question of raising funds for the 1944 national Democratic campaign stirred Democratic leaders in three southern states today.

J. Lon Duckworth, chairman of the Georgia Democratic executive committee, said in an interview, that the group would make no effort to aid the national committee financially unless national party leaders "quit dealing with Republicans and Willie-ites in Georgia".

He declared the committee had refused "repeated requests" for funds from the national committee.

Francis J. Whitehead, assistant secretary of Louisiana's Democratic central committee, asserted that any request for funds from

Controversies May Hold Up Vacations For Congressmen

Fights on Subsidies and Appropriations Have Embroiled Members

(By The Associated Press)

Washington, June 17.—Congress, striving for a summer recess by July 10 was embroiled today in a series of arguments that held possibilities of holding up the law-making body's first real vacation since the Pearl Harbor attack.

The senate appeared set for a knock-down floor fight on the plan of the Office of Price Administration to roll back food prices by subsidizing producers with federal money. Opponents of the program, while demonstrating a decided willingness to tangle in debate, showed an indication to temper. Some members of the banking committee said they would be attentive to a move to restrict subsidies to a certain ceiling. Up to now, they have been talking only of an outright prohibition.

The house was engulfed at the same time in an assortment of views toward government agency appropriations. Republicans, in such numbers now that they are close to dominance, served notice privately they would shoot at the administration's request for funds for the Office of War Information (OWI) and the Office of Price Administration (OPA).

Owners Stampless Autos Face Fines

Car owners in this vicinity who failed to purchase the federal automobile use tax stamp last year and those who purchased them but failed to display the stamp on their wind shield, are subject to a summons to appear before Albert J. Doherty, local internal revenue collector, to give an explanation for such failure. The summonses have made their appearance in Dixon on cars which do not bear the last year's federal stamp.

The penalty provided in the regulations calls for a fine not to exceed $25 and not more than 30 days in prison or both. Failure to appear after summons has been issued will result in a warrant being issued for the car owner's arrest.

Collector Doherty stated today that in many instances the federal stamps have failed to remain on the wind shield but are in the

Public Aid Merger Fails When House Republicans Split

Equal - Pay-for - Women Legislation Also Meets Setback

Springfield, Ill., June 17.—(AP)—A split of house Republicans on relief consolidation and equal pay for women bills had dealt Governor Green's legislative program a double setback today.

After the hotly-debated public aid merger bill failed by a single vote to pass the house late yesterday, the administration met a second reversal on another key bill when the house executive committee postponed until June 23 a final hearing on the equal pay legislation.

The postponement was forced by eight GOP members of the executive committee over the opposition of Majority Leader Reed F. Cutler and other administration aides. The action meant that the bill can not reach a vote in the house until late in the session, and that it might be caught in the jam that always precedes June 30 adjournment. Organized manufacturers are opposing the equal pay measure, applying only to them.

The administration scored a partially compensating success when the house passed and sent to Governor Green's desk for signature the bill creating a new state department of revenue. The department will take over tax collecting functions of the finance department, and also will assume the duties of the tax commission.

13 Code Departments

Philip W. Collins, Chicago, chairman of the tax commission, has been mentioned frequently as a prospective appointee as director to head the new department. The tax commission is abolished by the new statute, which increases to 12 the number of code departments under the governor.

Rodney H. Brandon, state welfare director who has waged a fight against the bill seeking to transfer old age assistance and aid to dependent children from his department to the Illinois Public Aid Commission, commented on yesterday's failure of the bill to pass the house by asking this question: "Is it conceivable that the old folks and the children could have made such a good showing without a righteous cause?"

Fight Not Over

Brandon has charged the unification proposal is a political move to "get control" of the 1,900 employees of the welfare department now administering old age assistance and child aid.

The fight over the bill was by no means over. Republican leaders put on an intensive overnight roundup of votes, and announced they planned to call up the merger bill for another try at passage today. The bill, by Senator T. MacDonnell (R-Macomb), already is through the senate. Yesterday's house vote was 76 to 64 in favor of the bill, but it needed 77 affirmative ballots.

Eight Republicans left the administration reservation to vote against the merger. As a result, Republican chiefs made no secret of the fact that they were resting their hope of passing the bill on Democratic votes.

Beaumont Rioting Fatal to 2; City Under Martial Law

Beaumont, Tex., June 17.—(AP)—Col. Sidney C. Mason, in command of state troops enforcing martial law here, said today the Negro section of Beaumont was "literally stomped into the ground" during race disturbances precipitated by two recent rape cases in which Negroes were suspects.

"From a destructive standpoint, it equals the Meuse-Argonne sector of the First World War," Colonel Mason added.

Col. Mason's comment on the damage was made as this southeast Texas city of more than 100,000 persons awoke today under the watchful eye of some 2,400 peace enforcement personnel under his command.

The city has its first undisturbed sleep in two days after rioting which started late Tuesday night had taken the lives of one white man and one Negro.

Bus transportation resumed today and most retail establishments were again open for business.

Under Guard All Night

Defense guardsmen, Texas Rangers, and local law officers had the city under guard during the night. Numerous arrests were made for violation of the curfew order barring from the streets all persons not having essential business through the night hours.

The destruction in the Negro section, Colonel Mason explained, included the burning of up to 20 Negro houses and establishments, and the wrecking of a beer parlor, in which windows were shattered and furniture broken.

The first of the incidents leading up to the disturbances occurred about a week ago. A white girl

13 French Members of Liberty Group Reach Agreements

Algiers, June 17.—(AP)—Thirteen members of the French National Liberation Committee, with Gen. Henri Giraud presiding, reached an agreement at an 80-minute meeting today on procedure and collective responsibility. It was announced.

Rene Massigli, Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, informed the first plenary session of communications received from other governments concerning recognition of the committee as the provisional government of the French empire.

The committee began the first steps toward the creation of a "consultative assembly." It also announced that an exchange of views had taken place on the problems concerning the organization of French military forces, one of the principal causes of friction between Giraud and Gen. Charles De Gaulle.

One committee member told the press "everything went admirably—an absolutely democratic institution has now been born."

He said the six commissioners attending the committee meeting for the first time accepted, like the original seven committeemen, the principle of collective responsibility and the pledge to relinquish the committees' powers when France is freed.

The announcement that agreement on procedure today "will bring to a conclusion the various questions now pending which need to be solved urgently" was interpreted as the most hopeful indication that the quarrel over military power between De Gaulle and Giraud might soon be solved.

Discharged 1,100,000 Service Men in 3 Years

New York, June 17.—(AP)—A total of 1,100,000 men will have been discharged from the armed services between 1940 and the end of 1943 for all causes, says Colonel Lewis Sanders, chief of the re-employment service of the selective service system of New York.

Of this number 500,000 were discharged up to the end of 1942, Colonel Sanders said yesterday at a conference on manpower rehabilitation called by Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, regional director of the war manpower commission.

He cited figures showing that of a representative group of 4,714 men, 19.77 per cent were let out for psychoneurosis—the largest single cause. He said battle injuries constituted only a small percentage of the causes of discharge.

Turkey Recalls Her France Ambassador; Move Not Rupture

Protest Against Nazi Restrictions; War News Summarized

Bern, Switzerland, June 17.—(AP)—Ambassador Behic Erkin of Turkey has been recalled to Ankara from Vichy in protest against recent severe Gestapo restrictions upon his embassy, a Turkish diplomatic source said today.

While this withdrawal was not considered a rupture in relations between Turkey and Vichy France, this source said it could be a step in that direction.

In addition to a protest against Nazi surveillance of the embassy, another reason for the recall of the ambassador was said to be pressure on the part of the allies, who thereby hope that Vichy will take a similar action and recall Gaston Bergery from Ankara.

This source, who cannot be identified by name, said allied quarters held that Bergery "is too friendly with the axis; sees too much of (German ambassador) Von Papen."

Is Believed En Route

The nazis refused to issue Ambassador Erkin a visa to return to Ankara through Switzerland, but granted him passage through Germany.

It was believed he already is en route to Turkey, but this could not be confirmed.

The Gestapo recently instituted a close watch on the Turkish embassy at Vichy and forbade its use of code messages. The embassy was permitted to continue to use a diplomatic pouch, but, according to this source, the pouch was opened at the border and examined.

Relations were reported to be very strained, with the Turks angered at the Vichy government and Marshal Petain. In addition to the ambassador, the Turks also recalled Embassy Counselor Sevdat.

The Vichy correspondent of the Gazette de Lausanne reported that all foreign consulates in the Mediterranean coastal areas of France have been ordered to move to the interior.

New Excise Levies Sought This Year

Washington, June 17.—(AP)—Treasury Secretary Morgenthau said today individuals and corporations need not expect an increase in income taxes until next year, but he expressed hope for enactment of legislation in time to make new excise levies before January 1.

Morgenthau told a press conference he is in accord with a statement by Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) of the house ways and means committee that no additional taxes should be levied on 1943 incomes and added that as a result there is no hope of achieving the administration's goal of $16,000,000,000 in new taxes and savings or both in the 1944 fiscal year which ends next June 30.

The year, he pointed out, would be half over before any new taxes adequate to achieve the goal could be made effective.

He said the treasury's aim still is to get sufficient revenue to pay for half the cost of the war and estimated that at least $12,000,000,000 in additional taxes would be necessary to meet this objective.

This does not mean, however, he explained, that every wage earner will be expected to put 25 per cent of his earnings into war bonds. Instead the treasury is interested in siphoning off 25 per cent of the over-all earnings of all workers.

Enormous Stock of Foods Hoarded and Hidden at Centers

Los Angeles, June 17.—(AP)—Testimony of secret hoards of food stocks, some of which he said he believed had been traded by Japanese for whisky and chickens, was given a Dies Congressional subcommittee by a former employee of the Heart Mountain relocation center in Wyoming.

Earl A. Best, a wounded veteran of Dunkerque who said his son, Clifford, was killed in Africa last January, told the committee yesterday he was sent to Heart Mountain last December as an associate steward after having served for a time as chief steward at the Poston, Ariz., relocation center.

During a month-long inventory of food at the Heart Mountain camp, Best said, he found 36 of the center's 42 kitchens had supplies hidden in their attics.

Secret Pantries Jammed

In one of them, he declared, a Japanese cook showed him secret pantries reached by sliding doors in the kitchen walls, one of them about five by 15 feet in size and

Coin Tokens Instead of Ration Stamps Proposed

Washington, June 17.—(AP)—The idea of using coin tokens instead of ration stamps, proposed yesterday by Office of Price Administration (OPA) officials at a food industry meeting, was described by merchants today as only slightly less burdensome than the present system.

While welcoming anything that would ease the burden of sorting and tabulating large quantities of paper stamps, one merchant said experience with Chicago sales tax tokens had shown they have their drawbacks, too.

The OPA "tentative" plan proposed tokens in several denominations and two colors, coin-sized for easy counting by machine. One ration stamp, good for the month's supply of points could be "cashed" for an equivalent amount of tokens which would be good indefinitely.

Instead of flowers, a sheaf of wheat will be placed on his casket, to comply with another of his requests.

300,000 Too Many Employees on Federal Payroll Congressional Committee Says

Washington, June 17.—(AP)—The government payroll has more than tripled since the first World War and could get along with 300,000 fewer employees, a congressional committee has concluded.

Senator Byrd said federal civilian personnel rose from 917,760

Great Air Battle in Guadalcanal Area on Wednesday Revealed

American Losses Placed at 6; Score of Raids Over Germany Told

Washington, June 17.—(AP)—In one of the great air battles of the Pacific, American planes shot down 77 Japanese aircraft over Guadalcanal island Wednesday while losing six of their own number, the Navy announced today.

Never before had the enemy's air losses in the Guadalcanal area been so heavy. The 77 total was almost exactly twice that of the Japanese losses last April 7 when 39 enemy craft were destroyed during a single raid.

Navy communication No. 415 said:

"South Pacific:

"1. A brief report received from the South Pacific reveals that in an air battle over Guadalcanal island on June 16 United States planes shot down 32 Japanese bombers and 45 Zero fighters. Six United States planes were missing.

"2. No further details have been received."

The description of the American planes as "missing," suggested that some of them, or at least some of their pilots, might turn up later.

13 to 1 Score Turned In

The 13 to 1 score turned in by American combat fliers in the Solomons, who have in the past included Army, Navy and Marine pilots, was one of the best, possibly the best, ever recorded in a single action.

In the action of April 7 the Japanese attacked shipping at Guadalcanal with 98 planes, including 50 bombers, and while they lost 39, American losses were three ships and seven planes. Only two American pilots failed to return from their crashed craft, however.

The latest raid in the Guadalcanal area prior to Wednesday's action was on last Saturday when the Japanese sent a force of 40 to 50 fighter planes into the vicinity of the Russell Islands, American air base territory lying immediately north of Guadalcanal. Their move then appeared to be aimed at winning aerial supremacy by overwhelming American fighter planes forces and driving them from the skies, thereby laying American ground installations open to a smothering assault. As it turned out the Japanese had 25 planes definitely shot down and eight probably. American losses were six planes and two pilots.

Purpose Not Clear

The make-up of the enemy force in the Wednesday battle suggested that the Japanese had returned to their earlier tactics of fighters escorting bombers, after their Saturday thrust with fighters alone failed so completely.

It was not clear, however, on the basis of available information why the Japanese should be directing air forces of such considerable size and suffering losses at so great a rate into the Guadalcanal area.

One explanation widely mentioned in speculation here is that the Japanese believe Guadalcanal will play an important role in the next big American push and are trying to disrupt operations there as much as possible, primarily as a defense measure.

An earlier Navy communique today, No. 414, gave this report:

"South Pacific (all dates East Longitude:

"1. On June 15th, during the morning, Navy Dauntless (Douglas SBD) dive bombers and Avenger (Grumman TBF) torpedo bombers, escorted by Wildcat (Grumman F4F) fighters, attacked Japanese positions in western New Georgia island. Fires were started and heavy explosions were observed.

"2. On June 16th, during the morning, Navy Avenger and Dauntless dive bombers, escorted by Corsairs (Vought F4U) fighters attacked Japanese positions on Choiseul island. Fires were started.

"North Pacific:

"3. On June 15th, during the afternoon, Navy Ventura (Vega PV) medium bombers attacked Kiska. Hits were scored in the main camp area, along the runway and among anti-aircraft batteries."

The Navy did not define the area embraced in the term "western New Georgia island", but it was assumed that it is about the

Ogle Hemp Growers Ask Appointment of 'Qualified' Manager

190 Sign Petition to Com- modity Credit Cor- poration

It was announced in Polo Wednesday evening that a petition signed by 190 Ogle county hemp growers who oppose the appointment of former state representative Frank B. Wilson of Woodstock as manager of the Polo hemp mill, had been presented to S. H. McCrory of Washington, D. C., director of the hemp division of the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Although Wilson's name was not mentioned in the petition signed by the 190 hemp growers, the government was urged to select "an experienced man who is qualified to manage the hemp mill, direct necessary work in the fields and co-operate with farmers" producing the vital war product.

McCrory was sent to Polo at the direction of J. B. Hudson, president of the Commodity Credit Corporation, to investigate discontent over appointment of Wilson as manager of the hemp mill.

15 Growers Interviewed
Arch Hamilton of Polo, whose contract for 40 acres of hemp on his 500 acre farm represents the largest individual contract, was one of about 15 persons interviewed individually by McCrory.

An announcement will be released from the Washington office as soon as reports from McCrory's interviews are studied and a decision is made.

Last month it was charged by Polo farmers in a hearing before Fred Butcher of Danville, president of War Hemp Industries, Inc., a CCC branch, at a meeting in Oregon, that 90 per cent of the Ogle county hemp growers were dissatisfied with the appointment of Wilson. At that time farmers said one of their main objections to selection of Wilson was his reported refusal to co-operate in the campaign to sign hemp acreage in the county.

Wilson signed a contract for production of 15 acres of hemp on his farm on Feb. 5.

Charge Politics
Several Ogle county farmers contended that the Wilson appointment is evidence of politics in the hemp program.

Lee Gentry of Oregon, head of the Illinois AAA office at Decatur, explained at the Oregon meeting that he believed the chief objection to the appointment was that Wilson had not been in close touch with the hemp mill program at Polo in its earlier stages. He said he was inclined to discount the political angle of the dispute as secondary.

The mill will consist of six buildings on a 40-acre tract, a mile and a half south of Polo on state route 26. Approximately 4,000 acres of hemp are being grown in Ogle county this year.

Hamilton was in Dixon today and commented upon the petition which, he said, stated emphatically the reasons of the growers in protesting the present management and insisting that a mill manager of experience be assigned to the Polo area to direct the hemp growing program, in which he will receive the full cooperation of the growers.

Private Investments

Hamilton stated that the total investment of hemp growers in the Polo area exceeds $1,000,000, which includes the value of the acreage of more than 4,200 acres, the cost of seed, machine hire, labor, expense of delivery of hemp to the mill. The greater majority of the hemp growers in the Polo area, he added, contracted to grow hemp purely from patriotic motives and they feel that they are entitled to have their reasonable requests granted by the government agency.

J. B. Hutson, president of the Community Credit Corporation, Hamilton said, assigned S. H. McCrory, director of the hemp production division, to address the Polo growers at a meeting held in Polo yesterday which was attended by 15 Polo men who are interested in obtaining the necessary acreage required for hemp production in that area.

Grain News

Chicago, June 17.—(AP)—Visible stocks of Canadian wheat on June 11 totalled 396,852,157 bushels compared with 401,775,817 on June 4 and 410,895,748 a year ago; oats 27,228,438 against 27,912,822 and 3,676,644; barley 28,347,298 against 29,953,901 and 6,868,855; rye 17,640,983 against 7,395,680 and 3,246,708; and flax 4,756,115 against 4,920,009 and 1,202,746.

Fort Worth, Tex., reported the arrival of 57 cars of new wheat Tuesday, 42 cars of which graded No. 1 dark hard and 14 cars No. 1 hard and one car No. 2 hard tough. Enid, Okla., had 38 cars of new wheat. Average weight was 61 pounds a bushel, with average moisture content 13.5 per cent.

The Occident Elevator Company, in its report of northwest crop conditions, said, "Wheat is very thick on the ground and is from six to eight inches tall. It is a crop that will require timely rains during July to carry it through."

About 85 per cent of the Illinois corn crop, delayed earlier by rain, is now planted, the weekly crop report said. Corn is coming up and growing rapidly where soil is not too wet, the report added.

Joliet Women Sues Lincoln Fields Club

Chicago, June 17.—(AP)—Mrs. Helen Gall, 30, of Joliet, Ill., filed suit in Superior court yesterday for $45,000 damages against the Lincoln Fields Jockey club, of Crete, and Jo Schultz, a parimutuel operator.

Her suit alleged that Schultz falsely accused her on June 16, 1941, of cheating him out of $5 with a bad ticket and had held her in custody for two hours. This she said, seriously damaged her reputation, caused her to lose sleep and embarrassed and humiliated her before her friends, townsmen and acquaintances.

She asks $25,000 on the first count of unlawful arrest and detention in the police station at the Lincoln Field Jockey club, alleging there was no writ, warrant or other legal process and that they refused to permit her to communicate with her husband while imprisoned.

Fortress' Crew of Eight Saved After Plane is Shot Down

London, June 17.—(AP)—Wallace A. Holton of Granite City, Ill., was one of a crew of eight Americans on a Flying Fortress which was shot down in a raid on the Kiel naval base in Germany June 13. The eight were saved from a dinghy in the North Sea in a combined airplane-motor launch rescue, the British Air Ministry has announced.

The dinghy was sighted by a Stirling bomber and the crew was picked up and packed "like sardines" into an amphibian Walrus rescue plane. Later they were transferred to high speed rescue launches, after five futile attempts by the Walrus pilot to take off from heavy seas with an overloaded plane.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there's something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Russian-German Peace Negotiations Rumored

London, June 16.—(AP)—A Reuters dispatch from Stockholm today said the pro-German newspaper Allehand published a special edition quoting a "reliable source" as saying that peace negotiations recently took place between Germany and Russia in Stockholm.

The dispatch said the story was considered a "nazi plant" in Stockholm. Allenhand said the purported talks broke down because of Russia's territorial demands.

A Thought for Today

Multitudes, multitudes in the valley of decision; for the day of the Lord is near in the valley of decision.—Joel 3:14.

Once to every man and nation comes the moment to decide, in the strife of truth with falsehood, for the good or evil side.—Lowell.

Word came that there is a more or less organized movement to eliminate the teaching of Latin and Greek in public schools. The motives are obscure, but probably rest in part upon the extreme utilitarian viewpoint that prevails in many quarters. If so, it is a mistaken bit of realism, because both Latin and Greek are highly useful languages. They are the foundation of a substantial part of our vocabulary. Anything useful must be utilitarian.

There used to be in some localities an idea that a person who intended to devote his life to writing ought to study the so-called dead languages—Latin and Greek—so he could express himself more clearly. The candidate for a carpenter's bench, the man who planned to use a trowel all his life, or the man who intended to grow corn, it was thought, could get along well without Latin.

However, the carpenter, the bricklayer and the farmer must read if they are to get the most out of life, and they can't get the most possible benefit from reading unless they have at least a smattering of Latin; and if of Greek, so much the better. People in general do not read thoroughly as it is. Too many of them skip through and get an impression—which is apt to be erroneous.

We are glad to note that the insistence that Latin and Greek be kept in the public schools is non-partisan. In a survey we find our old friend Henry Wallace defending the dead languages—talk as usual he gets his head in the clouds and talks about "mighty cultural rivers which have come rushing down upon us from the mountains of the past."

Wendell Willkie, not drenched with Henry's cultural rivers, says the study of Latin and Greek contributes to precise thinking—which is no campaign oratory, either.

George D. Stoddard, New York state commissioner of education, says the classical languages are basic to a thorough understanding of English. There is a fine collection of Latin and Greek advocates, but perhaps Wiley Rutledge, recently appointed to the Supreme court, puts the case most bluntly and clearly:

"Whoever speaks English speaks Latin," he says. "He also speaks Greek, but less often. The 'dead' languages are not dead. Only the ignorant so regard them. They live in history. They link our thought with the inescapable, living past. They also live in the speech of today."

"Keokuk and Kokomo use these ancient and 'foreign' tongues. They are spoken on the street, in the market place, the home and the church. We could not uproot them if we would. Nor would any one do so who knows the beauty and utility they have brought to our expression. They bind us, backward and outward, to our forebears and our kin in other lands and nations. They are old friends. We abuse them when we neglect them. If we are by way of doing this, we are by way of abusing ourselves."

Chicago bandits have robbed the same tobacco store three times this year. About time they're being smoked out.

Pleasure Driving

The Automobile Club of New York is exemplifying the type of obstructionism that Adolf Hitler had in mind when he assumed that no democracy could prosecute total war successfully. Fortunately Hitler was wrong. Both the American and the British publics, with a lot of fussing and fuming, come through in the pinch—no thanks to short-sighted trouble-makers.

The Automobile Club protests that the OPA has a "Gestapo" at work in the eastern states, checking on pleasure driving, which is banned because there is not enough gasoline for essential motoring and even then oil-heated homes are facing critical shortages for next winter because we cannot build up a reserve of fuel.

And the club protests that "we are still awaiting a definition from the OPA as to what constitutes pleasure driving and what is essential and non-essential driving."

That is tommyrot. Every motorist knows which of his trips are essential, in view of the acute shortage. He knows not only when he is driving for pleasure, but he also knows when he is burning precious gasoline to drive somewhere that he could go by public conveyance—with less comfort, perhaps, but otherwise just as well.

If there is a "Gestapo," which is the epithetical way of designating a corps of inspectors, it is justified by the utter failure of a sizable body of eastern motorists to cooperate in saving gasoline to win the war.

The desperate straits to which the east is reduced—the necessity for spreading the pleasure driving ban to Ohio, then to the Carolinas, and perhaps to Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska and the Dakotas—is due in part to the fact that when OPA Administrator Brown tried the honor system, he found too little honor.

Mr. Brown has been criticized severely and justly for his unrealistic attempts to please everybody, particularly the politicians.

Now he discovers what his predecessor, Leon Henderson, knew: that total war is a very unpleasant business, which requires sacrifices; that while the majority will respond to appeals, a large minority is selfish and self-centered and has to be whipped into line.

In a limited way, Mr. Brown has been forced to get tough. He deserves support from good citizens, not snide criticism.

A Sailor Writes Home

Navy Lieut. James Kraker told the Virginia, Minn., Kwanis recently about a letter he composed, written by a sailor somewhere in the far Pacific to his father, a coal miner. If the father went on strike, the son wrote that he no longer would regard "you as my father, and going out on strike could only mean that I mean nothing to you as a son."

"That boy and many like him," commented Lieutenant Kraker, "are bitter—bitter against those people within the United States who have struck and done those things which have slowed production of vital war needs."

A mortally wounded anti-aircraft crew member slips overboard, so that no time shall be taken from the battle to minister to his comforts. "Yet," says the Navy officer, "the people at home won't sacrifice a dollar."

Exaggerated? Sure. But that is how a lot of fighting Americans feel about it.

Rubber Comes Slowly

A year ago we were being told by a self-appointed rubber expert, whose name we choose not to revive, that there was no rubber shortage and that we could get all the gum we need from Latin America.

Well, for two years the United States and Brazil have been developing Amazon plantations—for more than a year at top pace. Yet the 1943 crop is expected to total a maximum of 35,000 tons. We would require around 800,000 tons to keep the American economy going with rigid economy and to supply war needs. In 1941 we imported 1,000,000 tons. Maybe there is a shortage.

Some men call golf clubs by number and others call them—we don't dare print it.

Fair Enough

by
WESTBROOK PEGLER

Chicago.—Possibly someone will say that I exaggerated or drew on my imagination in writing of the dangerous alliance between the present national government of the United States and the criminal underworld of the union rackets. Is this only my interpretation or can I prove it?

I can prove it. Let us take the case of Joseph Newell, known as Buck Newell, of St. Louis, a gangster who was killed in a cheap family shooting on June 2. The homicide case need not interest us. Newell was just a murderous thug, who abused his family among others and finally got his.

Newell was the boss of local 513 of the Operating Engineers, a St. Louis racket and a subsidiary of the national racket whose president is William E. Maloney, a dese-dose-and-dem gorilla with home and headquarters in Chicago, and an admired friend of William Green. Maloney is a dominant figure in the unspeakably corrupt AFL organization in Chicago which is a political, moral and financial subsidiary of Ed Kelly's Chicago chapter of the party of humanity with which Harold Ickes and Harry Hopkins bargained so earnestly in 1940 to put over President Roosevelt's nomination for the third term.

After Buck Newell's death it was disclosed that he had been indicted on three counts by the local grand jury at Cape Girardeau, Mo., where recently work was stopped for five days on the new oil pipe-line that Ickes is building with public funds, meaning your taxes and mine, to relieve the shortage of fuel oil and gasoline on the eastern seaboard. Many lives are at stake on this project because millions of Americans in the east have just lived through one very bad winter with insufficient fuel and are facing a similar shortage next winter.

This, incidentally is not the first time a union racket has tied up work on this vital pipe-line. There was a similar stoppage last spring, occasioned by no disputes between employer and employee but only by the determination of a racket licensed by Roosevelt's government to collect dues from countryside workers who were earning a few dollars on a public project.

One of the indictments against Newell we can throw out as being of no interest to us. It charged him with carrying on with a girl friend when he took to the road to beat up a few working stiff. But the other two indictments charged him, first, with smashing up the dining room of a hotel in Cape Girardeau and throwing crockery all over the place in assaulting a couple of pipe-line workers with intent to extend to them the benefits of the new deal's benevolent labor policy, and second, with starting a riot in the railroad yards at Illinois, Mo., with the same intent. In each case he had a mob of St. Louis underworld bums with him. Work on the pipe-line stopped for five days.

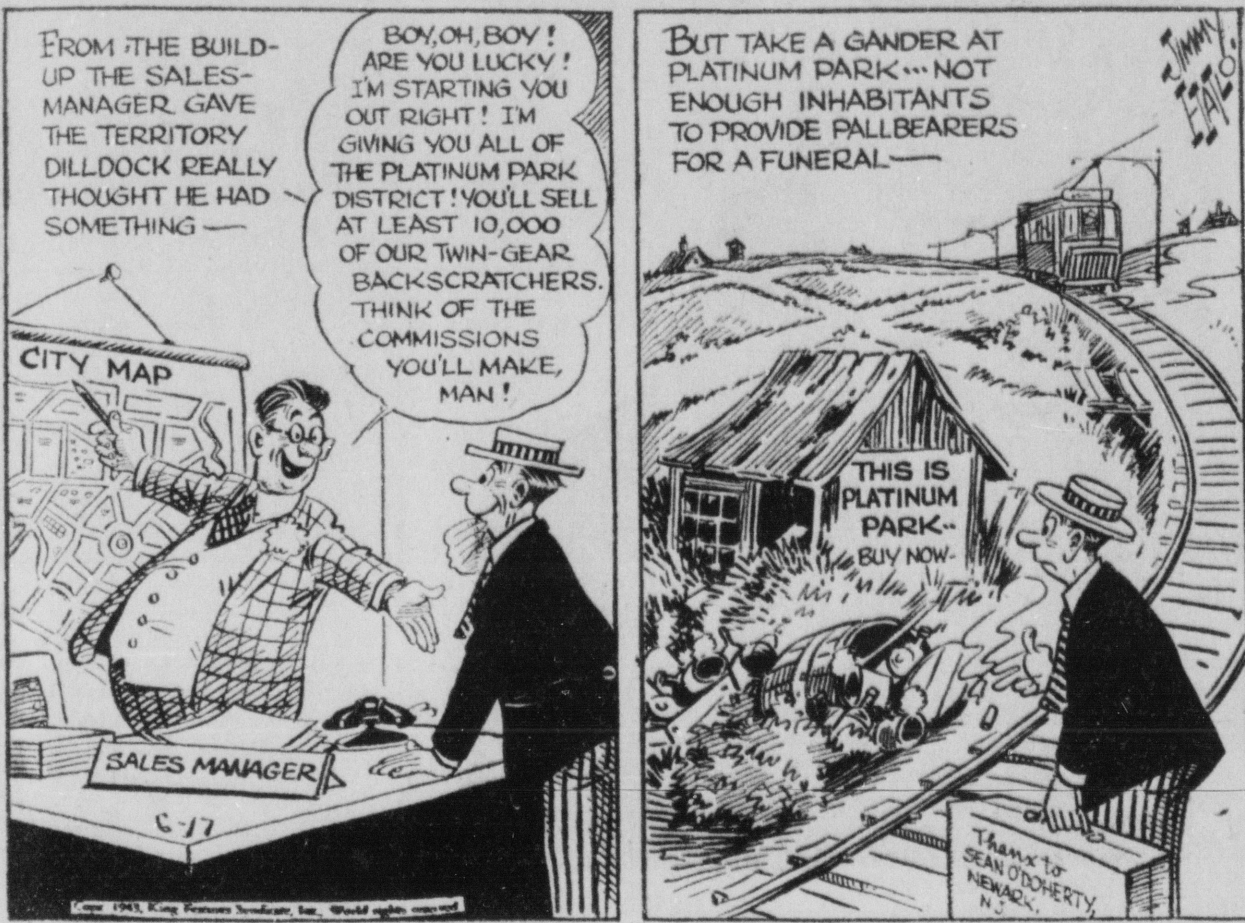

This was the third war project that this protege of the new deal party had tied up within two years under the license and privilege extended to him by the national government. But it was not the federal department of justice which indicted him for obstructing the pipe-line. The only trouble the federal department of justice ever gave him was a $500 fine back in 1937 for conspiracy to defraud the government. This conviction did not impair his eligibility to operate as a defender of labor's gains and thus, in time of war, this bum could stop work on the pipe-line without molestation by any federal agency. It is no violation of the new deal party's concept of law and the people's interest to impede the war effort if you are a licensed racketeer duly accredited by the party's criminal subsidiary.

Brother Newell never was a workman and he always was a bum, a run-up, saloonkeeper, gambler, muscle man and thief. Nevertheless, or perhaps we should say for this reason, Brother Maloney, of the Chicago chapter of the party of humanity, let him have his head in Missouri and, for your further information, the mob had the gall to picket the governor of Missouri, Forrest C. Donnell, at Jefferson City, because Donnell sent a detachment of the state guard to protect the workers and expedite the job.

A further fact pertinent to the corrupt relationship between the party of humanity and the criminal underworld is the recent indictment in New York City by the county grand jury, not the federal, of run-dum Joe Frank, of Jersey City or Frank Hague chapter of the party of humanity. Jersey City's representation in the U. S. congress is Mrs. Mary Norton, a female equivalent of the old fashioned Honest John of precinct politics, who is chairman of the house committee on labor. Because Mrs. Norton is known for her stalwart devotion to the party's alliance with the unionists, the other congressmen nowadays invariably send to other committees rackets which would place union racketeers under decent legal restraint.

Fay is a member of Frank Hague's muscle, and Hague is the

They'll Do It Every Time

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Washington.—Everyone has been making florid speeches about the Smith-Connally anti-strike bill but no one has been advertising what is in the bill.

CIO's Mr. Murray was heard in every radio loud-speaker saying it "would cripple the war" and "destroy worker security." AFL's Bill Green is mimeographing almost daily the contention that it is "fascism" and would "destroy the workers' war morale."

If any of these accusations were correct the legislation was certainly bad, because no one wants such results. But Murray and Green are unspecific in their charges. They do not point to any provisions of the bill, to justify such conclusions.

The bill does not present strikes. It is not a permanent bill. The machinery which it hands the president would be dismantled automatically six months after the war is ended.

Every rule and regulation it proposes would then end, excepting perhaps the one denying unions the right to make presidential and congressional campaign contributions. But this possibly permanent provision also directs that no bank or corporation make any contribution to any political campaign, even the state and local election disputes to which the labor unions could continue to contribute.

This new Smith-Connally effort to hinder strikes would not be applicable, furthermore, unless the president, the labor conciliation service, or the War Labor Board found that the war effort was being seriously impeded. It is further restricted to essential war manufacturing. In such plants the labor leaders would be required to notify the War Labor Board of impending labor difficulties, or the conciliation service would notify the board of a threatened strike. On the 13th day there-one who elects Mrs. Norton to congress.

Fay was indicted in New York on a charge of extorting more than a million dollars from contractors and workers on the Delaware aqueduct. This job was largely financed by federal money and if you were naive, you might wonder why the federal department of justice did not indict him, especially considering the facts that the case has reeked for years and that Fay's operations crossed state lines. But you are not naive so you bow to the fact that Fay runs to fires with the Jersey City auxiliary of the party which governs the United States.

Brother Fay is a vice president of Brother Maloney's union, which is by and large the most evil band of extortioners and gangsters that the U. S. A. has been victim of since the heyday of Al Capone and, for that matter, some of the old Capone mob are henchmen of the Maloney-Fay racket today.

To be sure, in the bootleg days we did have some rude mobs of killers but not even in Harding's time could the national government be accused of conniving with the racketeers, much less of flagrant affiliation with them, and of refusing to proceed against them or to let congress do so.

Has it ever occurred to you that almost all of the prosecutions of union criminals, even though they could have been charged with federal offenses, have been state prosecutions? Have you noticed that in all but a very few cases, the new deal's department of justice has let them strictly alone?

This alliance between a government would hold a secret election on whether or not they would strike. If they voted to strike, they could.

Beyond this in vital cases, the president could stop a strike by taking over the plant, but even then the workers could get a wage increase or other new privileges out of the War Labor Board. If the president takes over the plant, the labor leaders (no individual) would then be prevented from promoting a strike under penalty of a $5,000 fine or two years imprisonment.

Briefly, that is all there is to it. The bill is moderate in tone and, in one place, even admonishes the board "to be fair to both the employer and the employee." Obviously, no one can get much "fascism," "cripple the war" or "breakdown or workers' morale" out of the provisions of the legislation.

Why, then, are Murray and Green so excited? Well, one excuse may be that this is the first amendment to the Wagner act or any of the predominantly pro-union bills enacted since the start of the new deal. All previous legislation of this era has been dictated by labor without regard to the interests of anyone else.

Perhaps they fear that this first correction of their newly established code, though merely for the purposes of war, will lead to further efforts to correct equally gross abuses which they have been unable or unwilling to correct in their own ranks (racketeering, secrecy of labor treasuries, etc.)

No dominating political group likes to let anything pass concerning it unless by its direction. They are all jealous of their controlling "privileges" even in matters which are not essential. These considerations must have led Green and Murray to make far more out of the bill in propaganda efforts to get the president to veto it, than seems justified by the provisions of the legislation.

They still control the labor board and all the government labor machinery here and could just as easily have espoused this bill themselves, as far as any of their basic rights appear (to an unconcerned observer) to be involved.

The course they chose suggests that do not intend to give an inch anywhere, and will not assume, or let the government assume, the responsibility (which is primarily theirs) of correcting the most flagrant and unpatriotic crimes against the public welfare in their own ranks.

They did not stop strikes themselves, do not want the government to stop them in time of war. They will not purge their ranks of racketeers and will not let anyone else purge them. They will not open their books to treasury inspection, will fight any such legislation.

A man generally directs the nature of tactics used by his opposition against him through the course he himself assumes. If his charges are made fairly and in moderation, he requires his opposition to assume the same fair tone. If he is wild, relentless, un-moving, he inspires such tactics by his opposition.

Therefore, it looks like a long war one the domestic labor front.

Cambridge, Mass., June 17.—(AP)—Harvard University today mourned the death of one of its foremost educators—Dr. Albert Bushnell Hart, historian, forecaster of world events and authority on George Washington.

A familiar figure, with flowing white beard and long black coat, as he strode briskly across the Harvard yard, he was known affectionately as "Bushy" to the thousands of students he taught in almost a half century of active service at Harvard.

The professor emeritus in the science of government died yesterday at the age of 88. Although he retired in 1926 as chairman of the university's department of government, he maintained quarters atop Widener library. He had written approximately 250 books, alone and with collaborators.

Funeral services will be held Saturday in the Harvard Memorial chapel.

Dr. Hart is survived by twin sons, Albert Bushnell Hart, Jr., of Peak's Island, Me., and Adrian Putnam Hart of Portsmouth, N. H., and a sister, Miss Mary J. Hart of Cambridge. His wife, the former Mary Hurd Putnam, died in 1924.

A keen student of history, he predicted in 1914, a few months after the beginning of the World war, that the Allies would win. In 1916 he predicted the entry of the United States into the conflict. In March, 1938, he said another European war was inevitable, declaring that Germany would annex Poland and Czechoslovakia "perhaps within four weeks."

A prediction at 86
On his 86th birthday, July 1, 1940 he asserted the Germans would invade the western hemisphere within five years. He once said that "the United States must either give up the Monroe Doctrine or else make preparation to protect what it believes to be its interests."

In 1935, when he predicted a general European war within a decade, he said: "Whether allies or neutrals, the people of the United States cannot escape the very dangerous conditions of the next European war. It would be suicide for us not to foresee that danger and to accept, however unwillingly, new conditions of diplomacy, armament and enlistment."

A huge man, with a booming voice, he thundered from lecture platform and study. His great figure, clad in a well-worn black coat with furry collar, was familiar in ancient Harvard Square where his upheld arm still may be traced by Harvard men to be the finest seen on Cambridge's Brattle Street "since the days of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow."

Once, on a hot June day, he appeared at a Radcliffe commencement attired in a black and orange sash mandarin gown, which clashed startlingly with the scarlet tassels of his Doctor's mortar board. He wore it, he explained, not because it connoted any of his many collegiate degrees, but because it was cool.

Classmate of T. R.

Born in Clarksville, Pa., July 1, 1854, he was a descendant of a farmer who came to Cambridge in the Massachusetts Bay colony in 1634. He received his A. B. degree from Harvard in 1880—he was a classmate of Theodore Roosevelt—and then studied at the Ecole Des Sciences Politiques at Paris, and the universities of Berlin and Freiburg.

He became an instructor in history at Harvard in 1889. From that time to 1926, he was assistant professor, professor of history, Eton professor of government, chairman of the division of history and government, and chairman of the department of government.

For many years, he was a member of Cambridge's school committee. He served as a member of the Massachusetts Constitution convention from 1917 to 1919, and in 1926 was appointed historian of the federal commission on the bi-centennial of George Washington.

League of Nations Views
At first a believer in the League of Nations, he reversed his views in 1925 when he termed the league a failure.

"I do not believe in Santa Claus," he snapped, "and by the same process, I do not believe that the League of Nations will be Santa Claus to fill everyone's stocking each Christmas morn."

At different times, he was accused of being pro-German and pro-British. The pro-German charge, which he denied before a senate investigating committee, came in 1918 when German propaganda was being investigated. It was charged that his name was included in a list of "important" names carried in the diary of a German agent.

The pro-British charges stemmed from some of his historical writings. Twice Boston school officials sought to ban one of them. In 1927, his "The American Nation—A History," was one of the volumes that drew the fire of a Chicago investigating committee, appointed by the then Mayor Thompson, to ban from the library books that were considered to smack of dictation from Buckingham palace.

On the Chicago matter—particularly a phase regarding a reported proposal that books containing historical "heresies" would be burned publicly—"Bushy" leaped into newspaper print. He warned Chicago that in years to come, people would remember the proposal as "an attempt in a great American city to punish and degrade honorable writers of history because they differed in their interpretation from certain civil magistrates."

Allied Aircraft Take Day Off in No. Africa

Allied Headquarters in North Africa, June 17.—(AP)—The mass of allied aircraft in the northwest African theater took a day off yesterday, activity being limited to patrolling and reconnaissance after heavy assaults the day before on five enemy airfields on western Sicily.

Once again, long range RAF fighters sallied out from their middle east bases yesterday to attack enemy shipping in the Aegean sea. A Cairo announcement said three sailing vessels were sunk in an island harbor.

ITALIANS WITHDRAW

New York, June 17.—(AP)—A Moscow radio broadcast recorded by CBS said today that several incidents among the Italian garrisons of Sicily and Sardinia had led the Italian high command to start withdrawing "its demoralized troops from the islands under the pretext that it is regrouping its forces."

Headquarters of the commander of the German air force in the Mediterranean were declared to have been moved from Sicily to the Southern Italian province of Calabria.

KATHY'S DIAMOND

CHAPTER XIII

DEREK's funeral was held at the village undertaker's. We went in two cars. Margaret and Will Grady and his wife in the limousine driven by the faultless John. Walter and Kathy and I in the roadster. Walter driving. Connie pleaded off with a sick headache and went to bed instead.

The services were short. Margaret didn't cry at all. She went up to the grave on Will's arm and stood looking down at the closed casket a long time, and then she turned blindly away.

A county car was parked in the drive when we returned home, and I saw some deputies down in the ravine. They seemed to be searching for something.

Walter went upstairs immediately to see how Connie was. Kathy, Margaret, Will and his wife also disappeared upstairs, and I went into my study to wait impatiently until the noisy police should leave. I had something to do and not much time to do it in, for not even to save my immortal soul would I have gone into the woods again after dark.

The police poked around down in the ravine and on the side lawn for a long time. I watched them from the study windows. At last it dawned upon me that they were looking for the gun—the gun that had killed Derek. The fine hair lifted along the back of my neck. If they found the gun there would probably be fingerprints on it. And Shaw had had all of us finger-printed as a matter of routine. It was nearly dinner time before the officers gave up their search.

THE spookiness of the night before was gone as I crossed the creek and hurried along the familiar wood path toward the Cottage. The sun was still a couple of hours high in the sky. I stopped to reconnoiter when I reached the place where I had hurt my ankle. Yes, there was a twisted tree root showing in the center of the path. That was evidently what I had stumbled on in the dark.

I pushed my way determinedly through the bushes and made narrow circles around the place, but I didn't see anything to account for the light that had been there last night. It looked as if my curiosity was wasted, and then just as I turned reluctantly to go back to the path my eye was caught by a metallic gleam where one of the long shafts of sunlight pierced a thick clump of the sunnier briars.

I walked over to the bushes and there was a spade stuck down in them for concealment. My blood pressure mounted. I pulled the spade out, getting my hand scratched in the process, and looked the ground over again.

I saw a place close to the fallen tree where it looked as if the leaf mold had been recently loosened. The way I dug that had been a revelation to a WPA man, and suddenly a small brown packet came flying out with the dirt.

It was a man's wallet. There was worn lettering on the flap, "D. G.," and inside a thick sheaf of fresh increased bills, the kind the bank gives you. I took the money out and counted. It was in bills of $10 and $20; $500 in all.

Something was still lodged in a corner of the wallet. I shook it. A diamond ring came tumbling into my lap. A big square diamond in a platinum setting that insolently caught the sunlight and flashed it back in streaks of fire. I picked it up with clumsy fingers.

It was Kathy's diamond!

instead of Connie. That was the discovery I had made as I thought the situation over. Derek had written: "I'm in the old play cave." That would have meaning only to Kathy. It was Kathy who had played there with him. Connie would know nothing about it. Then I had spent the rest of the night wondering when and how Connie had come into possession of the note. If Connie had intercepted the note before it reached Kathy there was the probability that Kathy knew nothing about Derek hiding in the ravine. But I knew now that that was out. Kathy had seen Derek. She had given him the money and her ring. As to why somebody had later removed these valuables from Derek's body and hidden them in the woods, I hadn't the foggiest notion.

Aside from that mysterious angle, the facts as I knew or could reasonably guess them began to fall into a logical sequence of events. Connie had learned somehow about the note from Derek, and she had decided to see him herself and send him away before he could cause another family scandal. That explained the bitter quarrel between the girls.

And now I could guess, too, where Kathy had been going that morning—the morning of the day we found Derek—when she had almost run over Clint Mattison and me in the lower hall. She must have been on her way to the bank to get this money for Derek. And Deputy Shaw must know it, too. That was why he had asked her repeatedly if she had stopped any place in the village except at the gas station. . . . and why he had looked at her so peculiarly when she denied it.

The chief deputy was no fool. He could put two and two together, and there was every chance in the world that he would add it up to four.

Well, I couldn't do anything about Shaw, but I could call Clint Mattison off.

DIXON GIRL WILL ATTEND ILLINI GIRLS' STATE AT JACKSONVILLE FOR WEEK

Next week will find a "super" state set up in Illinois. Lest good citizens, unfamiliar with the current vocabulary of the younger generation, take alarm at the statement, the following explanation of the term is offered: "Super," in teen-age parlance, has superseded "tops" and "swell" to indicate that which merits unqualified approval.

The project, practice school in government, is the Illini Girls' State, sponsored by the Illinois department of the American Legion Auxiliary, and is held at historic MacMurray college in Jacksonville. The project, which has become a national program of the Auxiliary, will be held in 21 states this year.

So important to the future of the country has the program come to be regarded that the ladies decided to carry through with the project this year, despite war conditions. "Today more than ever," explained Francis Phalen, Illinois department commander of the Legion, "there is a real need to impress upon the younger generation the work principles of everyday Americanism and unselfish citizenship."

The girls' state, therefore, will open with more than 200 junior citizens in attendance on Thursday, June 24, to continue for a week. Miss Shirley Myers of 704 North Galena avenue, Dixon, will be sponsored by the Dixon Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary. The young people are selected from sophomore and junior classes in high schools throughout Illinois, and the entire cost of their week's training is paid by individual Auxiliary units. All the lessons in the civics textbook are translated into actual experience at the Jacksonville school. City, county and state governmental procedures have all the spirited embellishments of stump speeches, party parades, campaign slogans and songs.

The federal party at girls' state last summer ushered several of its candidates into office behind a merry placard of an owl which enjoined all citizens to "Be Wise and Federalize," while the Nationals conducted a campaign to the tune of "We did it before and we can do it again."

Only the most qualified of counselors are accepted to conduct girls' state, and the speakers are from among the prominent men and women of Illinois. Mrs. Marie Sheehy, department president of Miss Myers on her return, will be available as a speaker to tell of her impressions of girls' state and just what she gained from attending.

General War News

By ROGER GREENE

Associated Press War Editor

British block-buster armadas thundered new destruction on the German home front before dawn today, hammering the Rhineland war foundries city of Cologne for the 116th time, while RAF fighters shot up transport and other targets in Nazi-occupied Holland and Belgium.

By daylight, allied planes carried on the round-the-clock offensive across the English channel and destroyed six axis fighters against a loss of one RAF aircraft.

Fourteen RAF bombers and one fighter were listed as missing in the night's operations.

In the Mediterranean, allied long-range fighters attacking from bases in the Middle East sank three more enemy ships in the Aegean sea, while the mass of Lieut. Gen. Carl A. Spatz' Northwest Africa air force took a day off after violent assaults Tuesday on five axis airdromes in Sicily.

Other War Headlines:

Invasion jitters—Berlin broadcast betrays nervousness over possible allied invasion of Balkans; Ankara confirms sealing of Turkish-Syrian frontier "to protect troop movements" in Syria; Rumania, Hungary reported angling to quit axis.

German peace feeler—Soviet minister to Sweden brands talk of German-Russian peace parley as "German propaganda lie."

Italy—Premier Mussolini ousts six more fascist national councilors in continuing shakeup; London hears Italians frenziedly applauded every mention of peace in address by Pope Pius XII.

Russia—New flashes flare on long-quiet Smolensk front.

Southwest Pacific—Gen. MacArthur's bombers fly more than 1,000 miles to blast Japanese base at Kendari, Dutch Celebes; Japanese reported building up air strength in New Guinea, New Guinea, New Britain and northern Solomons.

Burma—Allied bombers pound five Japanese bases.

In the European theater, while Rome and Berlin rang the changes on prospects of the "zero hour" approaching for an allied invasion, the spotlight shifted momentarily from Sicily, Sardinia and Italy to the eastern Mediterranean and the Balkans.

Report Unconfirmed

An Algiers broadcast reported that Turkey, still neutral but recently swinging toward the allied camp, had broken off relations with the pro-Nazi government of France.

The Algiers report lacked immediate confirmation, but Berlin asserted yesterday that Britain was "trying to bring Turkey in on her side."

From other widespread sources came a flurry of reports that major events were brewing in the Balkan-Middle East arena.

A Moscow broadcast said Ernest Kaltenbrunner, chief of German security police, had been hurriedly sent to Rumania to reorganize the police there, and declared that the atmosphere in Bucharest, the Rumanian capital, was "very tense." Many Rumanian political leaders were said to be in hiding.

FOR "MOTHER RUSSIA"

Cairo, June 17—(AP)—Increasing resistance by opposition groups within axis satellite countries of southeastern Europe, a situation which Nazi authorities apparently are handling with unusual liberality, was reported today in information reaching Cairo.

Underground leaders in collaborationist Rumania and Bulgaria are becoming more and more outspoken, it was said, and in Bulgaria, where many elements have strong ties with the Soviet, there has been a resurgence of the old "Mother Russia" sentiment.

The extent to which disaffected groups in Rumania are permitting themselves to give voice to their dissatisfaction was indicated in a recent speech by Baron Manfred von Killinger, German minister to Bucharest.

"We laugh at all these dwarfs," he declared, "these anti-Germans, politicians who are nothing but talkative loafers, Jews, pro-Jews and those who are servants of Jews."

Then he added: "All these must take care . . . our patience will end."

May Move Too Fast

Some quarters here expressed the view that the various underground movements may be moving too fast for their own good, for German technique frequently has been to allow the opposition sufficient rope to hang itself.

The ideal movements for the allies, it was pointed out, are those which would reach their peak at the moment of invasion of Europe.

(These reports of dissatisfaction within the satellite countries were highlighted by a roundabout report yesterday through Turkey that Rumania was sounding out the allies on what she might gain by withdrawing from the war.)

(Semi-diplomatic sources in Ankara said Rumania had approached allied authorities through a neutral diplomat and suggested that Rumania would desert the Germans in Russia if Rumania were allowed to keep at least parts of Bessarabia and Bukovina, both claimed by Russia.)

85 Nazi Planes Destroyed

Secretary of War Stimson disclosed that 85, possibly 105, German fighter planes were destroyed by American and British fliers raiding Wilhelmshaven and Cuxhaven last Friday.

In those raids, in which he asserted heavy damage was caused to enemy industrial areas, the secretary added that eight Flying Fortresses were lost. Preliminary reports had placed the Nazi air losses at 54 craft.

Stimson also reported that the capture of Pantelleria, Lampedusa and two other small Mediterranean islands cost "only about 40 airmen and a few numbers" of axis prisoners were taken—Pantelleria they totaled 11,135 and at Lampedusa "between 4,000 and 5,000."

Allied Losses Explained

Discussing allied raids on Kiel and Bremen, in which he said "was inflicted on the enemy," Stimson reported that 24 Flying Fortresses were lost instead of the originally announced 26. He explained that two of the Flying Fortresses originally reported lost returned to their bases safely.

Those raids, he added, accounted for 65 enemy fighters.

Explaining the allied losses in the Bremen and Kiel raids, he told a press conference that the participating planes apparently had been sighted by enemy reconnaissance planes or patrol boats shortly after taking off from the bases in England.

The flight also divided, two-thirds flying to Bremen and one-third to Kiel, said Stimson, adding:

"The Germans apparently correctly deduced that we are going to attack Kiel and disposed their fighters accordingly. The bombers attacking Bremen met relatively light opposition, probably not more than 25 German fighter planes. Near Kiel our smaller group was met by more than 200 fighting planes which attacked with great ferocity."

As a result, 20 bombers were lost over Kiel and four near Bremen.

JAPS ARE STRONGER

Allied Headquarters in Australia, June 17—(AP)—Despite the destruction caused by 209 tons of allied bombs in eight recent raids, the Japanese persistently are building up their air might at Rabaul, New Britain, and Wewak, New Guinea, as well as in the northern Solomons.

This was disclosed today in a study of photographs taken of the airdromes by allied reconnaissance planes.

Rabaul's airdromes, particularly the Lakunai field, have been pounded with 135 tons of bombs in four raids, starting a week ago. In each case, the returning bomber crews reported large fires, some apparently burning.

After the latest raid on Tuesday, fliers on reconnaissance came back saying they had noted repair activity at Lakunai.

At Wewak, on the north coast of New Guinea 450 miles north-west of the allied base of Port Moresby, 74 tons of bombs have been dropped in four recent raids, the first on May 28 and the last on June 4.

The photographs showed other concentrations of enemy planes on Bougainville island in the northern Solomons. In that general area yesterday, a Flying Fortress on a photographic mission was attacked by 15 Japanese Zeros, suffered five casualties among its crew, but got home safely.

War Production

described it as a deal to end dual ownership in the rich field through payment to Standard in cash and in kind for its acres.

The cash was fixed at $1,748,408.75 and the kind was to be one-third of the oil withdrawn, representing, as the Navy said, compensation for Standard's "interest in the wells and property in the reservation in the ratio of their respective interests as determined by geologists."

Standard's acreage represented about one-fifth of the total, but presumably the expected yield was higher per acre than that of the Navy-owned land in the Kern county, Calif., reservation Standard was the only private owner in the field.

The contract first attracted attention of congress early this year when a house appropriations subcommittee on naval affairs, headed by Rep. Sheppard (D-Calif.), began asking questions about an item for $2,900,000 for carrying out terms of the deal which appeared in a Navy department supplemental appropriation bill. The congressmen asked more time to study the item because the "procedure was unusual" and Admiral Harry A. Stuart agreed to withhold it until the regular Navy appropriation bill for 1944 was submitted.

Referred to Ickes

Meanwhile the matter was referred to Interior Secretary Ickes, who assigned it to his aide, Abe Fortas, for study. Ickes sent Fortas' critical report to Navy Secretary Knox, and it soon reached the White House. On March 26 Roosevelt referred it to Attorney General Biddle for analysis and recommendation in view, the justice department head said later, "of criticism of the contract, raising doubts as to its legality and propriety."

Sheppard commented after a personal study that the deal would result "in a co-working arrangement between a private company and the federal government which might result in an objectionable precedent."

This appeared to refer to the agreement under which Standard was to operate the field at cost, taking one-third of the production, while Navy held control of the field and received two-thirds of the withdrawal.

The Navy, speaking through an officer who asked not to be named, defended the contract as a far-seeing step taken in the national interest and representing a "good deal" for the government.

It was explained that under the arrangement, only 5 per cent of the vast reserve would be withdrawn during the five-year period, and that the Navy retained complete control over the remaining 95 per cent.

The Navy explained that it had chosen to work through an agreement rather than by condemnation proceedings because of the time the latter would require. It said that if Standard chose to drill on its lands, Navy would be forced to put down offset wells to prevent oil under government land from going to the company, and the result would be wasteful, unnecessary production.

Eight Over Subsidies

Opponents of subsidy payments to cushion price decreases appeared headed for a congressional floor fight over whether use of government funds should be limited or prohibited entirely in the administration move to roll food costs back to lower levels.

Some members of the senate banking committee previously approved legislation to halt any subsidies without congressional sanction, sought to temper the restriction with a provision which would establish a ceiling on the payments.

Still opposed to the whole idea however was Chairman George (D-Ga) of the senate finance committee who criticized subsidy payments as "doubly inflationary," and "a most inadvisable program."

"From the congressional point of view," the Georgian declared, "we know how impossible it will be to resist the demand for subsidies from everybody feeling the pinch of price control."

For Over-All Ceiling

George expressed belief that the administration may have to abandon rigid price control and wage ceilings to avoid interference with production. He suggested possibility of setting a new "over-all ceiling" which, he added, would call for adjustments in wages and prices.

Acting Chairman Bankhead (D-Ala) of the senate banking committee yesterday heard Price Administrator Prentiss Brown declare it would be impossible to control prices without subsidizing payments, announced that a substitute for the anti-subsidy legislation would be drafted next week.

While he refused to predict the committee decision, he expressed doubt that congress would repudiate the administration's subsidy program to offset reductions in the retail prices of meats.

Meanwhile, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) drew up a proposal which would permit subsidy payments to compensate for increased transportation costs, reduce government expenditures for war equipment and "for other uses specifically authorized by congress."

WLB May Vote on Miners' Demands Before Nightfall

Washington, June 17—(AP)—The War Labor Board tried to reach a vote late today on the crucial portal-to-portal pay issue in the soft coal wage dispute while members of the United Mine Workers murmured threats of a new nationwide shutdown next Monday unless their demands were satisfied.

Some members of the UMW policy committee, after a session of more than three hours yesterday, said suggestions were made to hold district conventions on the strike question with the objective of relieving President John L. Lewis of responsibility if another tieup of the coal mines develops and the president signs the anti-strike bill. The current extension of the truce declared by the UMW leadership expires Sunday midnight.

Policy committee members said Lewis has fixed $1.30 a day as the absolute minimum settlement which he would accept for travel time. The committee was to reconvene at 4 p. m. today.

Committee Divided

The WLB, it was learned, had been far from unanimity and considered awards ranging up to 80 cents a day.

An award of 80 cents a day would be based on travel time of 48 minutes at straight time working rates, which basically are $1 an hour. The only government survey of travel time made six years ago, shows 48 minutes as the average. Lewis contends it is at least 90 minutes.

One member cautioned against any prediction, except that 80 cents a day was the extreme maximum which could be expected and even that was unlikely. This amount, with the concessions already granted by the board, would add up to about $1 a day.

Some of the WLB public members were reported authoritatively to have suggested for consideration a formula based on the fair labor standards act which would permit a payment of $1.02 a week.

The power behind block busters

IN blasting enemy military objectives, the devastating 4,000-pound block busters are delivering crippling blows to the Axis.

And the tempo of these 2-ton blows will grow in fury. For Electric Power, the mighty force of mass production is behind the manufacture of these block busters. The Goose That Laid the Golden Eggs

A Man had a Goose. And it was a very remarkable Goose, because every day it would lay a golden egg.

The Man wasn't satisfied with having one golden egg a day, and he decided to cut the Goose open and take all her treasure at once. So he killed the Goose, opened her up and found—nothing at all.

Taken from Aesop's Fables

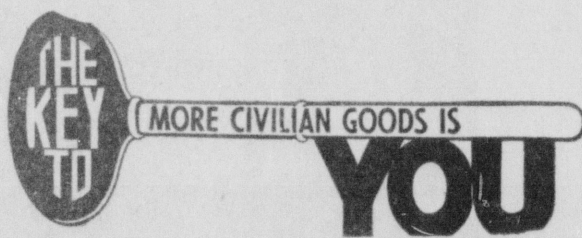

LET'S NOT LET IT HAPPEN!

Have you, as a citizen, considered that you may not only have to pay your own high war taxes, but will have to shoulder the extra burden of the taxes which firms and individuals are now sharing with you! Just stop and think — there are some 2,000,000 retail establishments of all kinds in the United States, the employees are estimated to total about 15,000,000 — and everyone of these people today are taxpayers! This is an army of Americans who number half again as many as the entire combined armed forces of our country! Now then, not all of them, probably not even a fair percentage of them will be able to find other employment, war industry or otherwise. They are dependant entirely upon the retailing system for their incomes, which they will not longer have — so they cannot pay any taxes. Now add to them the million or so more people who supply the stores, and the million or so more people who were normally employed in factories which can produce civilian goods only! The army of non-taxpayers is mounting and mounting.

Someone has to pay the staggering National debt of this country — held out now at some $200,000,000,000.00 — two hundred BILLION dollars — and that someone is YOU!

It's high time someone along Main Street did some thinking on his own — it's time for the people of America to demand that their interests be protected with legislation to permit the production of more civilian goods as well as guns, tanks and planes!

What price victory if grass is to grow in the streets of our cities. You must demand more civilian goods — today! In consideration of our front send the coupon at the right — NOW!

Senator Scott Lucas
Senate Office Bldg.
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

As a patriotic Illinois citizen I insist that the war effort come first — that the feeding and clothing of our boys and our allies is worthy of any personal sacrifice. BUT I feel that second only in importance is the maintenance of the home front — the feeding, clothing and equipping of millions in Illinois who are engaged in the war effort. We who maintain morale maintain the standard of living for which our boys are now fighting. To do this we at home must have all civilian goods in keeping with the war effort.

I firmly believe that it is within your power, as a member of the Congress of the United States, to devote your attention to the increasing of the available supply of civilian goods and I urge your immediate action.

Raymond Keglers Take Over Lead In Summer Loop

Melvins In Second Place, One Game Behind Leaders

By BILL EVANS

As the eighth week of bowling finished in the "Mixed Summer" League last night, the Raymond team found themselves in an undisputed first place in the league. They are only one game ahead of the second place Melvin Keglers. In accomplishing their climb to first place they trounced the Miller team for two of three games. Bill Edwards led his team in the two game victory with a high series of 544 in games of 203, 186, and 155. Edwards also rolled a high individual game of the match with a 203 game.

The Melvin Keglers lost ground in the eighth week as Loyds took two of three games. Jim Biggart of the Melvin team had a high series of 482 in the match in games of 133, 178, and 166. P. Carson of the Melvin team rolled a high individual game for the match with a 183.

The long lost Schofield team trounced the Daschbach team for all three games in their match. O. Hackbarth of the winners rolled a high series of the match with a 462 in games of 126, 120, and 216. Hackbarth also bowled a high individual game of 216 in the match.

COOKING TIPS
Chicken fat saved from stewed chicken is good as the shortening in pie crusts, biscuits, spiced, chocolate or ginger cake or cookies.
After the chicken has cooked, remove it and let stock and fat cool and then store in cold place. When the fat hardens it can be easily lifted off and stored in covered jar in refrigerator.
Store the glass jars of foods in dark places to preserve the color.

One-third cup mincemeat put into your regular pumpkin pie filling when baked turns out a winter favorite dessert with plenty of wartime nutrition. It is advisable to plan a heavier dessert when meat alternates are in the main course.

A tablespoon of maple sirup spread over top of grapefruit gives a delicious flavor. For a change, spread grapefruit with melted butter and sirup and broil until light brown—about 10 minutes. Serve warm. The broiling releases more juice.

Leafy Vegetables Should Be Served In Various Ways

Green Leafy Vegetables Best When Leaves Are Tender

Urbana, Ill., June 17—Leafy green vegetables can add to the flavor and color of any meal, says Dr. Frances Van Dune, associate in home economics, University of Illinois College of Agriculture. Nutritionally they are so important that authorities agree in recommending at least one serving a day for everyone.

Greens commonly grown in Illinois are spinach, mustard, Swiss chard, New Zealand spinach and kale. Young beets and turnip tops and endive greens also fall into this classification. Some of these are at their best in food value and flavor for a relatively short period of time. Hence they should be

Pour over oats in large bowl. Let stand until lukewarm. Add yeast and 2 cups flour. Stir thoroughly. Add rest of flour and mix. The mixture should not cling to the side of the bowl so if its sticks, add a little more flour. Cover with cloth and let rise until doubled in bulk—this usually takes about 2 hours. Cut into small pieces and roll into one-half inch balls and place 3 together on greased baking sheets for rolls. Space each roll 1½ inches. If break is to be made, carefully place the dough into a greased pan. Let the rolls or bread rise until doubled in size—this usually takes about an hour. Bake rolls 20 minutes in moderate oven. If baking break bake 10 minutes in moderate (350) and bake 50 minutes. To keep crust from forming over dough while it is rising brush it lightly with melted shortening.

After the chicken has cooked, remove it and let stock and fat cool and then store in cold place. When the fat hardens it can be easily lifted off and stored in covered jar in refrigerator.

Store the glass jars of foods in dark places to preserve the color.

served as often as possible in various pleasing ways while they are available and also preserved by the most satisfactory methods for use later when they can not be obtained in the fresh state.

Best When Tender
"Green leafy vegetables are best when the tender young leaves are picked out of the garden and used just as soon as they can be prepared. When buying them on the market, select ones that are fresh, crisp, lovely in color and not over-mature. Greens can not be held for long without showing signs of deterioration. Wash them thoroughly, cut off the tough portions of the stems and discard any bruised and discolored leaves. If they are not to be used at once, drain off the excess water and store them in a covered container in the refrigerator; they should not be allowed to stand in water.

"Greens can be cooked in several different ways, the most common of these being boiling. Leafy green vegetables with mild flavors, as spinach or Swiss chard, can either be dropped into a small amount of boiling salted water and cooked until tender, or they can be cooked in the water that clings to the vegetables after washing. Neither of these methods permits overcooking, which should be avoided. If overcooked, greens lose their bright color, delicate flavor and enjoyable texture. Greens with stronger flavors, as mustard greens, are usually considered more palatable if they are boiled in larger amounts of water.

Pan Vegetables
"One very interesting way of preparing these green leafy vegetables is to pan them. This method tends to save food values, since they are cooked and served in their own juices with fat seasoning. Cook them just until tender—not mushy. Milk, slightly thickened, is another good seasoning for some panned vegetables. Greens of many kinds can be prepared by the same method used to wilt lettuce or dandelion greens. These can be served hot or can be cooled and served as a salad. Greens can be creamed or scalloped, made into vegetable loaves and combined with other vegetables."

Child's Home Life of Special Import During Wartime

Urbana, Ill., June 17—Mental health in adulthood depends largely upon emotional security in early childhood. Therefore what happens to all children during wartime should be of vital concern not only to families, but also to communities and to the entire nation, says Miss Edna E. Walls, assistant professor of child development and parent education, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

"As more and more women enter war work—among them some mothers—more and more of the younger children will need additional supervision and guidance outside their own homes. Regardless of our judgment as to the wisdom of mothers of children under 14 entering war industries, they are doing it. The Office of Health and Welfare Services estimates that, in addition to those themselves make some provision, approximately three quarters of a million dollars will be dependent upon the community this year if they are to receive adequate supervision and protection. The threat to the emotional stability of these children is certainly equally as serious as, perhaps even more serious than, the more readily understood need for their physical protection and care.

"Dr. Daniel Prescott in an article entitled 'Maintaining the Emotional Stability of Children in Wartime' says there are numerous threats to the emotional stability of children and youth, but the most important of all of these is the disorganization of family life caused by war factors.

"Most of us have observed in our own or in neighboring communities the disorganization or disruption of family life as a result of such factors as change of residence, inadequate temporary housing, lowered standards of living and the extended absence from home of key persons in the family, for example father or mother. Many other such war related factors should be included among those causing serious disorganization of family life.

"Years ago Phillips Brooks said, 'The future of the race marches forward on the feet of little children.' More recently a Harvard professor wrote, 'The moral crisis now facing the world is that of a worse evil or a better good than man has ever known.' The implications of these two quotations would seem to be that to the children of today who will be the builders of tomorrow's world is offered unprecedented opportunity and unparalleled responsibility for the creation of a world in which a better good than man has ever known shall be the motivating force.

"Upon the home of today, then, rests in large measure the responsibility of providing the emotional security essential for the development of the emotionally stable adults who will be able to envision, plan and build such a world."

Modern Recipes

MRS. GAYNOR MADOX
NEA Service Writer

Overlapping meals in families can disrupt family morale. The following passage, quoted from the new book, "Eat Well for Less Money," gives helpful advice on the subject:

When a member of the family works at night, the meal problem becomes particularly complicated for the menu planner. The children's meal routine usually does not change, but the worker's meals must be served at unusual times. This is a problem that can be solved by careful planning and a knowledge of food values.

One answer is the overlapping meal, that is, one which serves two purposes. It may seem a bit incongruous at first, but actually the same foods can be served for the children's breakfast and the worker's supper if he returns from the night shift in the early morning. Or his breakfast, if it must come at night, may easily be the children's supper.

Versatile Foods

Fruits, either stewed, canned or fresh, hot enriched breads, waffles, griddle cakes or French toast are suitable for both meals. What's more, waffle or griddle cake batter can be kept in the refrigerator, for later cooking, without deteriorating.

Eggs, in all the hundred and one ways in which they can be prepared, bacon, sausages and creamed fish are other foods which fit properly into the well-balanced overlapping meal schedule.

If at all practical, the whole family should sit down together at this meal. The importance of normal family life on the night worker's morale must never be overlooked. But when, as sometimes happens, school or working hours make this adjustment impossible, then the next best way is to plan foods which can be prepared at one time, but cooked separately for the two groups.

Green Spinach Salad

(Serves 4)

One box (14 ounces) quickly-frozen spinach, thawed; 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup sour cream, 4 tablespoons mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, 1 teaspoon scraped onion, 1 1/2 teaspoons horseradish, 2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped.

Chop spinach. Drain if necessary. Sprinkle with 1/2 teaspoon salt. Combine remaining ingredients. Add half of sour cream mixture to spinach and mix well. Arrange on crisp lettuce and top with remaining sour cream mixture.

Veal Cutlets Oregon

(Serves 4)

One pound veal cutlets, 3/4 cup dried prunes, 1/2 onion sliced, 1/2 cup tomato sauce.

Cook the prunes in water to cover for 10 minutes, remove the pits and cut into medium sized pieces. Sauté the onion slowly in margarine over low flame. Add the tomato sauce and cook for 5 minutes. Add the prunes and the cutlets, salt and pepper and 1 cup of water to cover. Simmer 1 hour, adding more water if necessary.

Toasted Carrots

(Serves 4)

Eight small carrots, crushed cereal flakes, margarine melted, salt and pepper.

Scrub the carrots and cook until tender in salted water, leaving them whole. Roll the cooked carrots in the melted vitaminized margarine and then in crushed cereal flakes, season with salt, pepper and paprika. Place them under the broiler for a few minutes to toast. Garnish the ends with a piece of parsley, which will look like a carrot's top.

Ginger Waffles

(6-8 Waffles)

Two cups enriched flour, 3/4 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons ginger, 2 egg yolks, 1 cup molasses, 1/2 cup sour milk, 1-3 cup melted margarine, 2 egg whites beaten stiff.

Sift the flour, baking powder, salt and ginger together several times to mix it well. In another bowl mix the egg yolks, molasses and sour milk. Add this to the flour gradually and beat until smooth. Add the melted margarine and fold in the stiff egg whites.

Vanilla Custard Sauce

One egg, dash of salt, 3/4 cup milk, 1/4 teaspoon vanilla.

Combine the egg, slightly beaten, and the salt in the top of a double boiler, stir in the milk and place over the bottom section which has been filled with boiling water. Cook the mixture until it coats the spoon, stirring constantly. Remove from the fire and add the vanilla. Serve four tablespoons on top of each waffle.

Savory White Sauce

(about one cup)

Two tablespoons margarine, 2 tablespoons enriched flour, 1/2 teaspoon onion juice, 1/2 cup milk, 1/2 cup stock, vegetable left from cooking, fish or meat; salt and pepper.

Melt the margarine over low heat, add flour, salt pepper, onion juice and stir until smooth. Add milk and stock and cook until thick and smooth, stirring constantly.

Pinwheel Hard Sauce

Four tablespoons margarine, 1/2 cup powdered sugar, chocolate or cinnamon for flavoring.

Cream margarine and powdered sugar until light and fluffy. Spread two-thirds of this mixture on a cold, damp cloth. Add either chocolate or cinnamon to the remaining third and mix well. Spread this over the white layer. Roll into a cylinder and place in the refrigerator to harden. When ready to serve, cut into quarter-inch slices, which will come out like a pinwheel in design.

Liverwurst Roll

One pound piece liverwurst, 1 cup enriched flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 6 tablespoons vitaminized margarine, about 2 tablespoons water.

Remove the casing from the piece of liverwurst and wrap in pastry. Make the pastry by adding the salt to flour and sifting three times. Cut in the margarine until mixture looks like coarse meal. Add just enough water to make the pastry cling together. Wrap this around the liverwurst; bake in a hot oven (400 deg. F.) for about 20 minutes or until the pastry is brown. Make a simple mushroom sauce to serve over the top.

George Washington Cake

One-half cup vitaminized margarine, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 1 1/2 cups enriched flour, 3 tablespoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring, jam, powdered sugar.

Cream the margarine and sugar until light creamy. Add well-beaten eggs. Sift the flour, baking powder and salt together. Add flour mixture to egg mixture, alternating with the milk bit by bit; beat until smooth. Add flavoring. Bake in two 9-inch layer pans in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) for 25 minutes. Cool; spread with your favorite jam and place the layers one on top of another. To decorate, cut paper stars, and pin lightly in place on top of the cake. Sift powdered sugar over the top; remove the paper stars and you have made your design.

Boy Scout News

A Scout Camporee, the first to be held in the past few years, has been announced and will be held at Mil Spring near Franklin Grove on the banks of Franklin creek two days, Wednesday and Thursday, June 23 and 24. The Camporee program requires a test of the Scout's ability to establish and conduct camp under their own leadership. On Wednesday night the camp fire program will be held with Enos Keithley in charge. Parents of the camping Scouts and their friends are invited to attend this activity.

A district Scouters meeting has been arranged for 7:30 on the evening of June 22 at the Loveland Community House. H. J. Hornum, Scout executive will be heard in his address on the interesting subject, "Indoor troop program," and Hal Ross who will serve as chairman at the meeting promises a surprise in store for all attending the close of the session.

Scout Executive Roy Willard will announce his farewell at the district Scouters meeting to be held next Tuesday evening at the Loveland Community House in this city. Willard leaves the Blackhawk area council, here he has served as executive for several months, to enter a much bigger field. He takes over his new duties as assistant executive at Battle Creek, Mich., on July 1st and his family plans to join him there as soon as he is able to find a home.

Second Quarter Taxes Cut Bonds Purchases

Washington, June 17.—(AP)—Americans cut their war bond purchases sharply this month, possibly to meet the heavy second quarter tax bill which fell due Tuesday.

The treasury's daily statement issued today showed that during the first 14 days of this month sales of war savings bonds totaled $331,218,987, the lowest level in the last three quarterly tax payment periods.

Redemptions of war savings bonds so far this month amounted to $64,685,968.

Enriched Foods Are First Aid to Rationing Menus

Urbana, Ill., June 17.—One way to help ration-crippled menus, so far as vitamins and minerals are concerned, is to make good use of whole grains and enriched foods, says Miss Leone Hill, assistant in home economics, University of Illinois College of Agriculture. Many everyday foods have been nutritionally improved by the addition of vitamins and minerals and other dietary essentials and will not only make adequate meals easier to plan but will help keep budgets on an even keel.

Wheat, in its various forms, contributes 25 per cent or more of the average daily caloric intake of persons living in the United States. Thiamine, or vitamin B1, is one of the components which makes whole wheat most significant in the diet at the present time. If whole wheat products are used in daily menus, they will supply the thiamine and other members of the vitamin B complex which otherwise would be lacking if the consumption of meat is greatly decreased.

"If your family doesn't like dark bread, you may give them enriched white bread. An extra slice of enriched bread will give them the same amount of thiamine. Don't forget that enriched bread also gives nicotine acid, iron, calcium and phosphorus, which we must get from foods in order to maintain good nutrition and health."

Thiamine Important

"Although thiamine is perhaps the most important substance which has been added to foods, there are others. Butter is, in general, a very important source of vitamin A in the diet. It is well known that butter fluctuates in its vitamin A content throughout the year. If you depend on enriched vegetable fats for your family's vitamin A, along with green vegetables and eggs, use one with added vitamin A.

"Milk has been fortified with vitamin D for about 10 years. Many babies have had their start on such milk in the evaporated form.

"The present enrichment program is necessary as a quick method of improving the health of the nation. Education required to effect a wide use of new foods—whole grains particularly—would take a long time. Food habits are slow in changing.

"The Council of Foods and Nutrition of the American Medical Association has done much to protect the consumer with respect to enriched foods. Its standards require that the substances added should be those for which a greater distribution is in the interests of public health. The processed foods should be a suitable vehicle for the added vitamins or minerals—the added substances should mix well with the food and not lose potency during the usual conditions of storage. The substance added should be a form biologically available to the consumer and one which does not adversely effect the other nutritional values of the product.

"It is the responsibility of the homemaker to read carefully the labels of enriched or fortified foods and to make good use of them."

Locker Storage Requires Quality Food Containers

Urbana, Ill., June 17.—One of the problems in packing fruits and vegetables for freezer storage is to find containers that are reasonable in price, easy to fill, seal and open and economical of the storage space, says Dr. Frances Vaan Duyn, associate in home economics, University of Illinois College of Agriculture. Pint and quart sizes are the most suitable for home use, while rectangular containers that are not too deep can be packed in the locker with less waste of space than the round ones.

"In making your selection keep in mind that the more nearly moisture-vapor proof the containers are, the more satisfactory your products will be. Being water-proof is not enough, for if they are not moisture-vapor proof, dehydration will take place and the material will suffer. Heavily waxed or paraffined pasteboard containers may be used. In the research laboratory at the University of Illinois, we use cardboard containers with cellophane bags attached inside that can be sealed with heat. Immediately after blanching, cooling and draining, the vegetables are packed and the containers are sealed with an electric curling iron. Flat irons can be used, as well as heated spatulas or knives.

"When packing fruit it is necessary to leave space at the top of the container to take care of the expansion that occurs during freezing. The cellophane should be clean and dry before the last seal is made. After the product is packed, it should be taken to the freezing unit as soon as possible. If the trip can not be made within an hour or two, the containers should be stored in the refrigerator in the meantime. The more rapid the rate of freezing, and the lower the temperature of the locker storage space, the better the products will be."

Axis Feels Full Weight of Your Payroll Savings; War Bond Dollars Shop For Victory at Bargain Rate

10 Per Cent Yardstick for Bond Buying Out of Income No Longer Enough, However, as Yanks Go to Bat to Rout Our Enemies on All Fronts

Washington, D. C.—The nation's millions of wage earners are shopping for Victory by upping their War Bond allotments and getting their money's worth, the Treasury Department and the Office of War Information disclosed today.

As American armies join forces with their Allies in smashing down Hitler's Europe, was cost mounted to new peaks. But the home front was rising to an invasion tempo.

The Treasury Department left it to every individual worker and each war working family to figure out for themselves what percentage of their income they should put into war bonds every payday.

The ten per cent yardstick is no longer enough. It is only the starting point for figuring war bond allotments.

Ninety five cents out of every war bond dollar is being thrown directly into the fight against Hitler and his Axis partners. The Office of War Information pointed out that this is not only America's toughest war but the most expensive war in our history.

Expensive Warfare

The World war of 1914-1918 cost us a total of 33 1/2 billion dollars. In this war the United States will spend 85 billion dollars in the fiscal year of 1943 alone.

America has trained millions of men, OWI continued, made millions of weapons, and built thousands of ships. In fact, the United States last year broke all records by building 3 million tons of shipping, to refer to war production in only one classification. Yet military authorities now say that the 18 million tons which U. S. shipyards are building in 1943 still won't be enough.

Everything in Two Heaps Everything that is produced in the United States today goes into one of two heaps. One heap consists of planes, tanks, guns, ships, bullets, everything for war. The second heap consists of the goods and services which civilians can share.

While the "war heap" is constantly growing, the "consumer heap" is shrinking. (In 1942 the U. S. produced more than 81 billion dollars' worth of consumer goods and services; in 1943 it will produce only about 70 billion dollars' worth of these same commodities and services.)

* Thus it is doubly important, OWI said, that in 1943 consumers take less out of the consumer heap, and put more of their extra war wages into War Bonds which will keep down the cost of living and be safe for effective purchasing purpose after the war.

Streamlined Bargains

As for the streamlined war-cost "bargains" which American citizens on the home front can buy for their soldiers, sailors, airmen and others fighting on active fronts all over the globe, OWI illustrated specifically. A Y gun on a PC boat is somewhere in action today because some American at home bought $105 worth of interest-bearing bonds; a fishing kit, with which every Navy lifeboat is now equipped, a necessity dramatized by the experiences of Eddie Rickenbacker and others can be paid for with the $18.75 from a $25 War Bond; a $100 bond buys 2,000 rounds of steel-jacket .30 calibre shells for a Naval gun, and 2,000 rounds can bring down "plenty of Japanese airplanes."

These "Bargains" are offered through the payroll Savings through which Americans with billions in surplus, warboomed income on their hands can loan their government.

Schaell-Clark Wedding

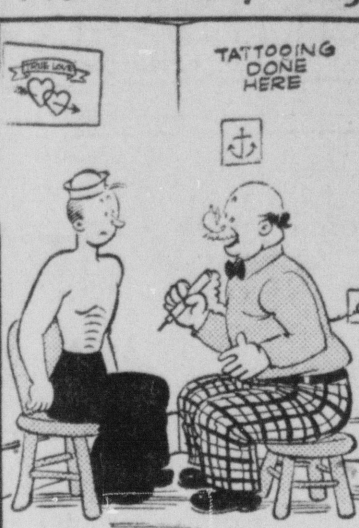

A pretty wedding took place at 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Immaculate Conception church in Ohio, Ill., when the marriage vows were repeated by Miss Eulalia Schaell of Ohio and Gerald Clark of Walnut in the presence of a group of friends and relatives. The double ring ceremony was read by Rev. James Clancy before the Altar of the Blessed Virgin. Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Michael Foley of Ohio, brother-in-law and sister of the bride.

The bride wore a pink linen suit with a hat in the same shade. With this costume she wore navy blue shoes and a corsage of sweet-peas and carried a crystal rosary. Mrs. Foley wore a suit of natural linen with white accessories and her corsage was also of sweet-peas.

For the entrance of the bridal party Mrs. Will Doran played the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin," and preceding the ceremony, Dale Doran sang "Peace, Be Still," and Mrs. Katherine Evans sang "Ave Maria." The recessional was Mendelssohn's "Wedding March."

SEE STRAIN ON FARMERS

London (AP)—Britain will continue to make heavy demands on her farmers until at least 1947, even if victory is won before then, R. S. Hudson, Minister of Agriculture, said in a speech.

"Last autumn," he said, "I asked for an additional 600,000 acres of wheat, and it has been achieved. I now confidently expect to get well over half as much again."

Britain's 1943 wheat acreage was more than double the 1939 figure.
